Permission to use videos, photographs and stories

We use video cameras, cameras and phones to take photographs and film the work we do.

We like to use photos, videos and stories on our website so it is easier for people to understand what we do.

We also like to use them on facebook and twitter.

To make things easier to understand we use DVD reports and lots of pictures and stories in our documents.

Tell us what we can use

It isn't nice to use someone's picture or story without their permission.

This is why we want you to tell us if you are happy for us to use any stories, videos or photographs that Opening Doors has taken, or may take in the future.

We will always ask if we can take a picture or make a DVD.

Please tick the things we can use.
