

Making Information easy read training

What you will learn on our training

What accessible information is and why fair access to information matters

Hints about making text easier to understand

How to put together easy read documents

What people with learning disabilities need from easy read information

What guidance and the law says about providing accessible information

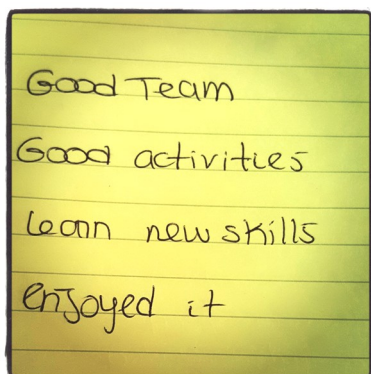

Choosing and using pictures in easy read

Feedback from people who have done this course

“The team made the easy read training fun and informative.

The materials provided are great and really useful”.

Thank you. Elizabeth

“Even better than helping us to translate into easy-read, the training enabled us to think in easy-read – would highly recommend”

Flourishing Lives project team,
University of Oxford.

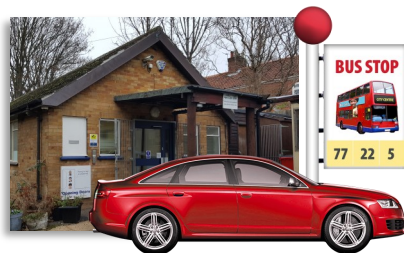

How do I book a place and how much does it cost?

Choose the date you would like to attend and email admin@openingdoors.org.uk. We can check if there are spaces left on that date.

The course costs £85 per person. We will send you an invoice once we have confirmed your place. This must be paid before you attend the course.

All dates will take place at our office - 38a Bull Close, Norwich, NR3 1SX. Car parking is available. The nearest bus stop is at Anglia Square.

Training programme written and delivered by Opening Doors members who are ‘experts by experience’

Every person who finishes our course will take home a free copy (worth £25) of our guide to ‘Making information Accessible’

Having our say
as people first

Opening Doors

Easy Read information
by Opening Doors

☎ 01603 631433

